

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for determining the types of tasks in queue at a plurality of cryptographic devices, determining an estimated completion time for each cryptographic device, and assigning tasks to the device with the lowest total estimated completion time for tasks in queue.